

About Plays and Players

By BIDE DUDLEY

THE Theatre Guild announces what, by arrangement with Bernard Shaw, "Heartbreak House" will be introduced to the American stage next season as a Guild production at the Garrick. Mr. Shaw didn't know the Guild, but John Drinkwater and St. John Ervine, after visits to New York, wrote him enthusiastically of the organization's work and G. B. S. consented to entrust "Heartbreak House" to the players at the Garrick.

"THE BAT" ALMOST READY.
Mary Roberts Rhinehart, who has been on the Pacific Coast supervising the making of motion pictures of several of her stories, has returned to New York to attend the rehearsals of "The Bat," a mystery play by herself and Avery Hopwood which Wagenhals & Kemper are producing. The first performance will be given at the Shubert-Belasco Theatre, Washington, on Monday. In the company are May Vokes, Edith Ellsler, Harrison Hunter, Sue MacManamy, Ernest Stallaard, Kenneth Hunter, Stuart Sears, Richard Barrows and Robert Vaughn.

ANOTHER HARBACH PIECE.
"Ticke Me," with Frank Tinney as the star, will open at the Selwyn Theatre on Aug. 16, under the direction of Arthur Hammerstein. Otto Harbach will write the book and lyrics assisted by Frank Mandel and Oscar Hammerstein 2d. Herbert Sutherland will supply the music.

FOR SHAME, GEORGE!
George Spector has sent us a "dime." We're not going to give you his address, as we always protect our contributors. But just look here: Some folks dig for gold, Some dig graves, I'm told, Some just want a hug, But look what Mary Doug.

FROM A LADY.
Then there's Mrs. Florence L. of Coney Island. She has written an effort, too. We're going to print it, and if you don't like it you know what you can do. Look! There was a man in the East, He went to a very big feast, And when he came there He fell on the stair And broke his hands and his feet.

THE "DUXBURY" CAST.
The Messrs. Shubert will produce the Claire Kummer comedy, "The Lights of Duxbury," Monday out of town. The cast is made up of Ann Nevil, Eugene Powers, Marshall Birmingham, J. K. Hutchinson, Oliver W. Hall, John O'Keefe, H. Hartman Lester, Blanche Frideck, Hazel Turner, Marla Harris and Mattie Ferguson.

OUR O.V.N. QUIJJA SECTION.
Question—Should a wife beat her husband because he upbraids her for chewing tobacco in front of the children?
O. U. Buzz Lighthead Point, writes—No, if my wife were to beat me for any reason I should be quite vexed.
Mrs. Pretty W. writes—No woman shouldn't chew tobacco. If she does she ought to be called down. Let her beat him for some other reason. Elotse Piggy writes—To beat one's husband is wrong. I am ashamed to admit I struck mine once and knocked out all his front teeth. But he loves me still, although he looks rather queer.

GOSSIP.
The usual concert will be given at the Winter Garden to-morrow night. Sherlock Holmes, a dog, is to have a part in "Don't Be Afraid." The Morrissey revue, "Duzsin' Around," may have to have a larger theatre than the Bijou.
An orchestra rehearsal of the "Cinacorella on Broadway" music was held at day yesterday at the Winter Garden.
Lucille Durling, a "Night Boat"

By Way of Diversion.

It's swimming time; it's swimming time, and youngsters everywhere are hunking for the water with their fingers in the air. They're jumping in from stumps and rocks the way we used to do. It's swimming time; I'd like to join the gang and jump in, too. It's swimming time; it brings to mind how mother used to say: "My son, don't go down to the creek—you mustn't swim to-day." It makes me hear her once again, as I reach home, declare: "My son, you haven't minded me—There's moisture in your hair." In memory I get a slap; I see myself in flight; but when the sun has set I find her kissing me good night. To-day 'twould be a treat for me—the rarest of the rare, could I but swim; then take the slap as mother felt my hair.

chorus girl, was born at Tellville Station, Ark. Nevertheless, she's a very quiet girl.
William Harris Jr. has been notified by cable that "East is West" is a success in London.
William Hook has changed the title of his revue to "William Hook's Silks and Satins."

An Exhibition One-Step contest will be held at the Terrace Garden Dance Palace Tuesday night for a fine silver cup.

Art Hickman says his Ziegfeld Roof band isn't a jazz organization. He says he doesn't need any skilful-heating to charge the pulse with energy. Just because Miriam Collins of "Laurel," sews during her spare time, she is suspected of an intention to commit matrimony. Pahaw! We sewed on a button last night and we're married.

John Egan, the Irish tenor and Greenwich Villager, will give a concert for the temperaments down that way on June 14, at the Hotel Brevoort.

Doris Kenyon of "The Girl in the Limousine," is back in New York after a long season in that faro. She has terminated her film contracts and will be rehearsing in a new spoken play soon.

Cyril Maude has cabled Henry W. Savage for the manuscript of "Shav-ing" with a view of appearing in the Hereford role in London next season.

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.
Tolley Whipple of Wallville has a double voice, which switches from bass to tenor unexpectedly. The other day he pounded on the fire Chief's door and said, "Open up!" in his low voice, and "Let me in" in his higher tones. "Wait a minute," replied Chief Hookey, "and I'll let you both in."

FOOLISHMENT.
Sing a song of stupidity, A bottle full of rye, Four and twenty iron men's What it cost to buy, When the owner finished it The birds began to sing; Now, wasn't that a costly job? But it was, by Bing!

FROM THE CHESTNUT TREE.
"We once kept a cook a whole month."
"How did you manage it?"
"We were cruising on a yacht and she couldn't swim."

The Evening World Quigja Editor Asks

THE Quigja Editor was particularly fortunate in deciding upon such an interesting question to ask his Quigja readers this week. The mail is flooded with sincere answers. Every letter is faithfully read, but it is impossible to give space to all. Watch for next week's question in Monday's paper. It is a "Quigja" This week's query is "SHOULD A YOUNG LADY PERMIT HER ESCORT TO KISS HER GOOD NIGHT?"

M. Myers, N. Y. C.—When a girl gives a kiss, feeling that she can't refuse because the young man showed her a good time, there is no "pep" thereto. BUT—when there is real affection felt, the recipient gets one of the thrills of a lifetime.

Flora Bee, Bronx—Would say to Holly, New York City, that he is all wrong. There are many girls that would not allow a fellow a good night kiss. They are very much alive, too. I am no "hard-boiled" egg, either.

Esau Brummel—Nine times out of ten a girl will be angry if you kiss her good night, but it's ten to one that she will be angrier still if you don't.

Miss California—Sure, she should permit her escort to kiss her good night. She enjoys them as well as the fellows. A kiss is the end of a perfect day.

Heat of the Bronx—I don't like to boast, but I can truthfully say that I have never asked a girl for a good-night kiss. It is not necessary. Miss Doris of Yorkville is right. Success to the Quigja column.

Louis Ratzel, Brooklyn—I am nineteen years old and so far I have never been kissed by a girl and NEVER will. Good boy, Rutland, Vermont. Me for the French dolls.

Bob O'Link, Luna Park—Most chaps have a spark of life in them and when they are out with a girl they care for it automatically gets to a burning desire. Therefore, kisses are recommended to soothe same.

Helen, Hoboken—I would like to meet the fellow who doesn't expect a kiss. It hasn't been my good fortune so far—they all expect it, and what
